Q.-02 Read the following paragraph carefully and answer the following questions. 14

Happy is the man who acquires the habit of reading when he is young. He has secured a life-long source of pleasure and inspiration. So long as he has his beloved books, he need never feel bored. He is the possessor of wealth more precious than gold. Ruskin calls books 'Kings' Treasures' –treasures filled, not with gold and silver but with riches more valuable than these –knowledge, noble thoughts and high ideals. Poor indeed is the man who does not read, and empty is his life. The blessings which the reading habit confers on its possessor are many. Provided we choose the right kind of book, reading gives the highest kind of pleasure. Some books we read simply for pleasure and amusement –for example, good novels. And novels and books of imagination must have their place in everybody's reading. When we are tired, it is a healthy recreation to lose ourselves in some absorbing story written by a master hand. But to read nothing but books of fiction is like eating nothing but cakes. There are many noble books on history, philosophy, religion which we ought to read, and which will give us not only pleasure but education. Nor should poetry be neglected, for the best poetry gives us noble thoughts and beautiful imaginings clothed in lovely and musical language. Books are the most faithful of friends. Our friends may change or die but our books are always patiently waiting to talk to us. They are never cross, peevish or unwilling to converse. No wonder a reader becomes a book-lover.

1. Why is a man with good books a possessor of invaluable treasure?
2. What is the phrase Ruskin uses for books?
3. What are the benefits of reading good books?
4. Which are the major genres (forms) of books mentioned in the paragraph?
5. How are books our better friends than human beings?
6. Which is the book you loved to read? Why?
7. Write a suitable title for this paragraph.
