Introduction:

The project work provides an opportunity to develop analytical ability amongst students.

The Process:

The Project begins with the identification of a real life problem or testing of proposed idea / solution for betterment or testing of assumption. Students are expected to define scope of work in consultation with internal and external supervisor.

Project work is a quality document to produce & present the work carried out under following subheads and components:

- Selection and approval of Hospital / health care institution
- Deciding scope of work
- Deciding methodology
- Preparing and submission of project proposal
- Collection of data
- Analysis and interpretation of data
- Documentation and submission of work
- Presentation

Project work stretched across the entire duration of the program and divided in to two phases.

Phase I:

Students, in the first semester, are expected to complete the first phase of Project. It involves:

- Selection and approval of Hospital / health care institution
- Deciding scope of work
- Deciding methodology
- Preparing and submission of project proposal
- Finalization of project proposal in consultation with the Guide
- Approval from external guide
- Fine-tuning of methodology
