Vriksharopan Program

Today, the growing environmental pollution problem is a matter of concern for all, it can only be solved by planting more and more trees. So, we all have to plant more and more trees with a determined resolve to save our environment.

The plantation ceremony was celebrated in this college campus. All the staff members inspired the students to plant trees in view of the great need of plantation at present. The campus director, principal, staff and students plants various kind of trees in the college campus and take initiate to care the planted trees.

The chief guest of this program Dr. Ved Vyas Dwivedi, Vice Chancellor of C U Shah University, told the students that if every human being plants a tree in life and protects it, there will never be any untimely problems. Similarly, the green revolution can be brought back to the surendranagar and in the country.
